About the Music:

Saudade is a piece that took me way too long to make. Over the course of one and a half years, I worked on and off this project and finally finished it in hopes of it being played at an Evening of Concertos '26, after the success of my previous work Prabhata | Sandhya for Evening of Concertos '25.

Something I do when I write music is find pieces of music that really stood out to me and examine why they stood out, and a lot of that music that I find interesting are pieces that I have heard before or played before! With Saudade, there are a lot to mention: Franz Waxman's Carmen Fantasie, Dmitri Shostakovich's Symphony No. 11, Alexander Arutunian's Trumpet Concerto, and Joe Hisaishi's One Summer Day.

Overall, Saudade is a piece of somberness, and a piece of sadness and anger. The word "Saudade" doesn't have a literal translation from Portuguese. From Wikipedia:

Saudade^[a] (English: /saʊˈdɑːdə/;^[2] plural saudades) is a word in Portuguese and Galician denoting an emotional state of melancholic or profoundly nostalgic longing for a beloved yet absent someone or something. It derives from the Latin word for solitude.^[3] It is often associated with a repressed understanding that one might never encounter the object of longing ever again. It is a recollection of feelings, experiences, places, or events, often elusive, that cause a sense of separation from the exciting, pleasant, or joyous sensations they once caused.*

Imagine someone going through heartbreak, mental health issues, pain, or anything of the sort – that's what I was imagining when writing this.

The style changes throughout the piece show the different stages of pain or heartbreak. The slow beginning marks the feeling of being alone or lonely. The faster 6/8 section expresses one's anger towards this pain and grief. The Dulce section represents a stage of acceptance, but then the fast 2/4 shows the relapse in the grief, but it comes out different. The section at m. 189 is a return to a feeling of loneliness, with there being little sound (à la Shostakovich 11), drawing the listener back in. The return to Dulce shows the return of acceptance, but then this person gets lost in themselves again and loneliness returns. The cadenza represents one's pain and them letting it out. The anger returns, but in a way that feels refreshing and more comfortable, and it ends here. The end represents that not everything will end with a happy ending, or even a good end. The anger shouts at you in a way that keeps you from resolving to something that feels satisfying, at least more satisfying than a minor chord.

Unlike most of my other pieces, Saudade doesn't represent much about my personal character or an experience I had, but more a personification of someone who's gone through heartbreak or grief. I can take bits and pieces of it and apply it to me, but this piece was an exploration of the sounds of the oboe and how to express a certain emotion, evoking some sort of beauty in the madness.

I would like to thank Valerie Harris, Luke Dahlberg, and Cristina Stepin for their help and feedback in writing this piece and other pieces I have created. They have been a massive help and huge supporters in my compositions and various musical endeavors, and I can't express my appreciation enough!

This piece is dedicated to Brooke Lin, who is an amazing oboe player, who offered to play this piece even in its early stages. I couldn't have done it without her. This piece premiered at Eastlake High School's An Evening of Concertos 2026, conducted by Valerie Harris and played by soloist Brooke Lin.

I hope you enjoy Saudade!

This image shows a page of a musical score, likely for a symphony or concert band. The score is written for a large ensemble, including woodwinds, brass, percussion, and strings. The page is numbered 282 at the bottom left. A large, diagonal watermark reading "www.ethanegrip.com" is overlaid across the entire page. The score includes various musical notations such as notes, rests, dynamics (ff, mp), and articulation marks. The instruments listed on the left include Picc., Fl. 1, Fl. 2, Ob. 1, Ob. 2, Cl. in Bb 1, Cl. in Bb 2, Cl. in Bb 3, Bsn. 1, Bsn. 2, Hn. in F 1, Hn. in F 2, Tpt. in Bb 1, Tpt. in Bb 2, Tpt. in Bb 3, Tbn. 1, Tbn. 2, B. Tbn., Euph., Tba., Timp., Perc. 1, Perc. 2, Pno., Sol. Ob., Vln. 1, Vln. 2, Vla., Vc., and Cb. The score is written in a standard musical notation with a key signature of two flats (Bb and Eb) and a common time signature (C). The page is divided into measures, with bar lines indicating the end of each measure. The dynamics range from fortissimo (ff) to mezzo-piano (mp). The score is a page from a larger work, as indicated by the page number 282.
